Karen Marston: To Embrace The Whole Sky With The Mind

JUNE 03 TO JUNE 28

Station Independent Projects

138 Eldridge Street Suite 2F
(917) 698-2012

The artist writes: "Totum animo comprehendere caelum" is inscribed on the exterior of the National Weather Center at the University of Oklahoma, a global nerve center for all things regarding severe weather and meteorological patterns. "To embrace the whole sky with the mind". The poetic motto of these scientists captures my desire as an artist to paint the magnitude of the sky—from sparkling blue calm to ferocious threatening grey and all the shifting subtleties of colors and implications in-between.
